

CHOICE LITERACY SITE LICENSES

Do you wish you could see more of best practices in reading and writing instruction, instead of just reading about them? Are you tired of navigating endless pop-up ads and grainy videos on the web to find quality teaching resources?

Consider purchasing an individual membership or site license for all the literacy educators in your school or district. Choice Literacy provides resources for reaching readers and writers of all ages. Our articles and videos are all in short, ready-to-use formats from some of the top names in literacy education today, including Jennifer Allen, Aimee Buckner, “The Sisters” (Gail Boushey and Joan Moser), Franki Sibberson, Ruth Shagoury, and dozens more.

Thousands of teachers in every state and more than 40 countries have made Choice Literacy subscriptions an integral part of their professional development. We deliver wise, friendly, and authentic portraits of teachers and students at work each week to your computer desktop, mobile device or laptop, accessible at home or school—wherever and whenever you need some expert literacy advice. There are no sales pitches at www.choiceliteracy.com—our ad-free environment is a quiet oasis on the web.

For less than the price of sending one person to a national conference, your entire staff can receive advice, support, and strategic tools from nationally known literacy experts all year long.

Members receive:

- Expert advice from the Choice Literacy network of contributors—all literacy leaders with decades of experience in diverse classrooms.
- Access to the Choice Literacy print library of strategies, lesson suggestions, and classroom-tested wisdom. The archives include over 2000 resources for K–12 literacy instruction, with a focus on reading and writing instruction, assessment tools, and planning grids.
- PD2Go: Our master class of professional development tools, linking videos, print resources, and protocols for using them in professional development settings.
- Over 300 professional videos posted online of expert teachers working with children for analysis, guidance, and reflection. This is high quality video from our award-winning multi-camera crew.

I am a member of IRA and NCTE, but I use articles from Choice Literacy the most in my role as a literacy leader.

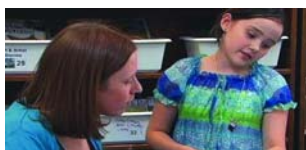

—Krista, Literacy Coach from Oregon

I absolutely LOVE your website. Of all the Internet resources I use, this is THE premiere website for educators who focus their efforts on literacy. Thank you so much for being there!

—Michelle, Teacher from Rochester, New York

I have been talking up your website with many others. The articles are fantastic, as well as the booklists, forms, video clips, etc. It is so great that you have so many “big names” in literacy. I enjoy getting your email every Saturday morning with the updates!

—Jessica, Literacy Specialist from Wisconsin
